

The Global Foundation

Together, we strive for the global common good

Leading global figures regularly participate in the work of the Global Foundation. These include: Mr Jin Liqun, President of the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank; Mme Christine Lagarde, Governor of the European Central Bank; Pope Francis; The Archbishop of Canterbury; Mr Pascal Lamy, President of the Paris Peace Forum and former Director General of the WTO.

The Global Foundation is an organisation with a high purpose, in that enables citizens from diverse backgrounds to collaborate for a more sustainable global economy, one that is transformative, ethical and people-centred. Our motto is: 'Together, we strive for the global common good'.

Pope Francis and other religious leaders, as well as heads of global institutions, personally endorse and participate in our work, which we frame around the call for 'co-operative globalisation'. We progress this by convening Global Roundtable meetings on an ongoing and cumulative basis.

We are non-profit, completely independent and membership based, with the majority of our support coming from enlightened global business leaders.

We originated in Australia, and also convene a parallel Australian Roundtable series, to stimulate thinking and action about Australia's long-term national strategy, in a global context.

Our most significant Global Roundtable meetings to date have taken place in Rome, working with the highest levels of the Vatican and with the involvement of a network of committed leaders from central banks, business, academia, peak organisations and civil society.

Subject to Covid restrictions, we will next meet in Rome in November 2020, where participants will report on progress against previous commitments in their respective spheres of endeavour and re-freshed objectives will be discussed and committed to action.
